REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The information regarding the Dahlia plant cultivar Kiedahbrov was available to persons of ordinary skill in the art, in the application number 20012092 filed in the European Community as early as December 20, 2001. The application was published on February 15, 2002. This printed publication was accessible to the public more than one year prior to filling of the instant application. A publication relied upon as prior art under 35 USC 102(b) must be enabling. The text of the relied upon publications standing alone would not enable one skilled in the art to practice the claimed invention.

When the claim is drawn to a plant, the reference, combined with knowledge in the prior art, must enable one of the ordinary skilled in the art to reproduce the plant. In re Le Grice, 301 F.2d 929, 133 USPQ 365 (CCPA 1962). If one skilled in the art could reproduce the plant from a publicly available source, then a publication describing the plant would have an enabling disclosure.

Applicant states that the new and distinct plant variety has not been publicly available nor sold anywhere in the world for more than one year prior to the filing of this U.S. Plant Patent application.

The publication number 20012092 cannot be enabled because the disclosed cultivar has not been propagated from publicly available materials.

The specification provides a complete botanical description of the claimed plant. The completeness of the description is sufficient to distinguish this new plant from the prior art as well it is sufficient to distinguish future application from this observed plant.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
